GENERAL INFORMATION PERTAINING TO WATER RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA

There are two principal types of surface water rights in California. They are riparian and appropriative rights.

A riparian right enables an owner of land bordering a natural lake or stream to take and use water on his riparian land. Riparian land must be in the same watershed as the water source and must never have been severed from the sources of supply by an intervening parcel without reservation of the riparian right to the severed parcel. Generally, a riparian water user must share the water supply with other riparian users. Riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water for later use or to divert water which originates in a different watershed, or return flows from use of groundwater.

An appropriative right is required for use of water on nonriparian land and for storage of water. Generally, appropriative rights may be exercised only when there is a surplus not needed by riparian water users. Since 1914 new appropriators have been required to obtain a permit and license from the State.

Statements of Water Diversion and Use must be filed by riparian and pre-1914 appropriative water users. The filing of a statement (1) provides a record of water use, (2) enables the State to notify such users if someone proposes a new appropriation upstream from their diversion, and (3) assists the State to determine if additional water is available for future appropriators.

The above discussion is provided for general information. For more specific information concerning water rights, please contact an attorney or write to this office. We have several pamphlets available. They include:

Dear Mr. Rollins:

Thank you for your past assistance regarding the matter noted above.

As we have previously discussed, I will be completing statements for properties in Kern County known as the San Emidio Ranch. The 1994 statements (for the period 1991, 1992 & 1993) pertaining to this property are numbered 002721 thru 002824.

In order to provide accurate information it would be helpful to have historical data pertaining to the same water sources. Therefore, would you please provide me with copies of statements for the years 1988, 1989 & 1990 for the same sources currently identified as numbers 002721 thru 002824. I understand there is a cost of $ 0.75 per copy, please bill me as necessary for such costs. Please mail the copies and billing statement to:
